GLOSSARY	View Full Glossary
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> First Owner When the first owner(s) obtains a title from a Department of Motor Vehicles as proof of ownership. Fleet Vehicle Vehicle was registered or sold to a company that manages vehicle fleets. Lease When someone leases a car from a dealer, the dealer actually sells the vehicle to a leasing company. The leasing company then collects payments for the vehicle from the new owner for 24, 36, 48 or more months. A leasing company can be an independent car dealer or a car manufacturer. Ownership History CARFAX defines an owner as an individual or business that possesses and uses a vehicle. Not all title transactions represent changes in ownership. To provide estimated number of owners, CARFAX proprietary technology analyzes all the events in a vehicle history. Estimated ownership is available for vehicles manufactured after 1994 and titled solely in the US including Puerto Rico. Dealers sometimes opt to take ownership of a vehicle and are required to in the following states: Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and South Dakota. Please consider this as you review a vehicle's estimated ownership history. Title Issued A state issues a title to provide a vehicle owner with proof of ownership. Each title has a unique number. Each title or registration record on a CARFAX report does not necessarily indicate a change in ownership. In Canada, a registration and bill of sale are used as proof of ownership.

Safety Recalls

NHTSA Safety Recalls:

Important: The following recalls were issued for the 2006 LAND ROVER RANGE ROVER SPORT HSE by the National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration (NHTSA). To find out if a specific 2006 LAND ROVER RANGE ROVER SPORT HSE still has open recalls that require repair, CARFAX recommends contacting an authorized dealership for more information.

Recall date:	Not reported
Units potentially affected:	548
NHTSA campaign number:	05V501000
Defective part or component:	SEAT BELTS
Description:	Certain sport utility vehicles may have been built with an incorrectly built seat belt buckle mountings. When the rear left hand second row seat belt is used, the buckle may not be fully retained. A seat occupant may not be properly restrained increasing the risk of personal injury. Dealers will inspect and replace the second row left hand seat belt buckle. The recall is expected to begin on November 30, 2005. Owners may contact Land Rover at 1-800-637-6837.
Recall date:	Not reported
Units potentially affected:	1,949
NHTSA campaign number:	05V502000
Defective part or component:	POWER TRAIN:AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION
Description:	Certain sport utility vehicles may have been manufactured with an incorrectly manufactured automatic transmission parking pawl guide plate. Consequently park may not engage when the lever in the vehicle is moved to 'park' and all indicators show 'park' position is achieved. If the vehicle was parked on an incline, and the parking brake was not engaged, this could result in a vehicle roll-away condition, increasing the risk of a crash. Dealers will replace the parking pawl guide plate. The recall is expected to begin on November 30, 2005. Owners may contact Land Rover at 1-800-637-6837.
Recall date:	Not reported
Units potentially affected:	44,087
NHTSA campaign number:	06V131000
Defective part or component:	ELECTRICAL SYSTEM:IGNITION:SWITCH
Description:	Certain vehicles fail to comply with the requirements of Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 114, 'Theft Protection.' when the ignition is switched off, after a period of time, it is possible to remove the ignition key when the transmission shift lever is not in park. This condition increases the risk of a crash resulting from the unintended movement of parked vehicles. Dealers will reprogram the driveline control transfer box electronic control unit (ECU) with revised software. The recall is expected to begin during May 2006. Owners may contact Land Rover at 1-201-818-8500.

Recall date: Not reported
 Units potentially affected: 10,791
 NHTSA campaign number: 06V135000
 Defective part or component: SERVICE BRAKES, HYDRAULIC:FOUNDATION COMPONENTS:HOSES, LINES/PIPING, AND FITTINGS
 Description: On certain vehicles fitted with 9J-19 inch diameter wheels, during certain vehicle maneuvers when the steering system is on full left lock and the suspension is moving towards full compression, the left front brake hose and/or the ABS wheel speed sensor lead and/or the brake pad wear warning sensor lead can catch on the wheel balance weight as the wheel rotates. This may lead to warnings of premature brake pad wear, warnings of ABS failure, or extended brake pedal travel and loss of one of the hydraulic service braking system circuits, which could result in a crash. Dealers will inspect the left front brake flexi-pipe assembly and replace it if it exhibits signs of chafing, and also to replace the left front 'clip-on' wheel balance weights with 'stick-on' wheel balance weights. The recall is expected to begin on May 22, 2006. Owners may contact Land Rover at 1-201-818-8500.

This 2006 LAND ROVER RANGE ROVER SPORT HSE safety recall information was provided by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, Highway Data Loss Institute and is derived from the National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration list of safety recalls. Please call the National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration Auto Safety Hotline at 1-888-DASH-2-DOT (1-888-327-4236) to report safety defects or to obtain information on cars, trucks, child seats, and highway or traffic safety. New Car Test Drive Review

NewCar Testdrive.com

Category:

Summary:

Review:

All-new model good on-road, too.

By Tom Lankard, NewCarTestDrive.com

As accomplished, and as world-renowned, as Land Rover is in building rugged, go-anywhere passenger vehicles, times change. So must the best. And so must Land Rover, or at least so its management and owners believe. Thus, if the company wants to be a player in the full spectrum of the sport utility market, it must put more emphasis on "sport," an attribute it hasn't emphasized in the past. The full-size, 2006 Range Rover Supercharged was the opening gambit. The smaller, more agile Range Rover Sport may well be the Ace in the hole.

Overview:

New Car Test Drive correspondent Tom Lankard drove the Range Rover Sport in Aspen, Colorado, Moab, Utah, and Carmichael, California.

Land Rover chose its company name to highlight its mission: Build vehicles capable of roving anywhere there's land. It has perhaps succeeded too well, as car shoppers in the increasingly urbanized parts of the world have tended to look for vehicles intended more for paved roads than unpaved tracks.

Those shoppers have found some competent vehicles, some of which are actually fun to drive. The BMW X5, the Cadillac SRX, the Infiniti FX, the Mercedes-Benz M-Class, and the Porsche Cayenne created a new market: SUV-proportion vehicles that are also sporty, with ride and handling abilities previously unheard of in off-road capable vehicles, and luxurious in trim and features, to boot.

Land Rover has hit this highly competitive, high-price market with two new products for 2006: The Range Rover Supercharged is a full-size Range Rover with the most powerful engine ever in a Land Rover. But it isn't really intended for flicking through a set of esses on a favorite two-lane road.

The 2006 Range Rover Sport has a similar name, but it's a different vehicle. Built on a smaller platform derived from the Land Rover LR3 but with a thoroughly reworked suspension and a unique but instantly recognizable body, the Sport is everything, well almost everything, the Range Rover Supercharged wants to be but isn't. Spirited, sporty, agile, with a snazzy look; OK, maybe not all that snazzy, but for a Range Rover, it's snazzy. It's also something the LR3 doesn't want to be: a Range Rover that's more comfortable on road than off.

Not only does it fit between the LR3 and the full-size Range Rover in terms of form and function, but it also nicely splits the different in price. It's priced about $20,000 under the top Range Rovers and $10,000-$20,000 over comparable LR3s.
